

Community Agriculture Local Foods

Nurture your family and community: support local farms!

Simple ways to support local, sustainable food production:

- ✓ Put more of your dollars toward regionally grown, raised and processed foods.
- ✓ Encourage your company or institution to serve locally sourced, sustainably produced foods at events and in the cafeteria.
- ✓ Next time you're at a restaurant or grocery store, ask what local Montana-grown options they have. When you can, choose those!
- ✓ Purchase a CSA share or subscription and enjoy the community, flavor, and adventure of fresh local produce and other products curated for you each week!

A Sampling of Other LOCAL FARMS:

Some farms sell primarily wholesale, such as Kimm Organic Potatoes and Cloud Nine Farm.

Some growers focus on greenhouse or hydroponic production, such as Montana Roots.

A handful of farms grow specifically for one restaurant, such as Little Star Diner, Norris Hot Springs, and Bodhi Farms.

Many create added value products, such as Montana Point Blankets, made by The Wool Mill, and BioOmega3.

And because seeds are essential, it's exciting to have farms that specialize in growing seed, such as Three Seed Farm.
